EX-PRESIDENT GREVY.

Death of a Chief Founder of the French Republic.

PARIS, Sept. 10.—Francois Paul Jules Grevy, ex-president of the French republic, died yesterday.

M. Grevy was born, according to the usual statements, at Mont-Sous-Vandriez, in the Jura, August 13, 1813. The register of his birth, however, shows the fact to be that he was born in 1807. He was educated at the college of Poligny, studied law in Paris, and in due course was admitted as an advocate. He took part in the revolution of 1830 and in 1848 was appointed commissary of the provisional government in his department and was sent to the constituent assembly from the Jura. In the legislative body M. Grevy, while reserving the right of independent action, generally voted with the extreme left. He opposed the government of Louis Napoleon, and protested against the expedition to Rome. After the coup d'etat he withdrew from politics, but was in 1869 again returned as a deputy for the Jura.

On February 18, 1871, M. Grevy was elected president of the national assembly, in which most important and at that time trying position he exhibited remarkable tact, judgment and moderation. In 1875 he resigned this office, being succeeded by M. Buffet. In 1876 he was returned to the national assembly by the arrondissement of Dole, in the department of Jura, and on the meeting of the chamber he was elected its president. He was re-elected by the new chamber of deputies November 10, 1877, and again in January, 1879.

After the resignation of Marshal MacMahon, M. Grevy was elected president of the French republic for seven years on January 30, 1879, when 663 votes were recorded in his favor, 99 being given to Gen. Chansey (against his will), five for M. Gambetta, one each for Gen. Adm. Aulard, the due d'Aumale and Gen. Gallifa. Forty-three voting papers were blank and eighty-seven senators and deputies were absent.

TWENTY DAYS FROM JAPAN.

Mail From Yokohama Reaches Queentown in an Extraordinary Short Time.

QUEENSTOWN, Sept. 10.—The City of New York arrived Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, having crossed the Atlantic in five days, twenty-two hours and fifty minutes, equalling the best previous eastern passage. The City of New York left New York on September 2. The City of New York had on board the mail of the Canadian Pacific steamship Empress of Japan, which mails left Yokohama, Japan, on August 19. The Empress of Japan's mails reached Victoria, British Columbia, at 4:34 a. m. August 29, the steamship's time being 9 days, 19 hours and 34 minutes, many hours better than the best previous time across the Pacific.

This rapid time made the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. officials determine to send a special train across the continent in order to try to catch the City of New York at New York, sailing September 2, instead of catching the Hamburg-American steamship Columbia, which sailed September 3. This special train left Vancouver early in the afternoon of August 29, and with the assistance of the New York Central railroad the Empress of Japan's mails reached the latter city at 4:50 a. m., Wednesday, September 2, and at 5:10 a. m., nineteen minutes later, the mail bags were delivered on board the City of New York, and have thus reached Queenstown in twenty days from Yokohama.

Work preparatory to the opening of settlement of the ceded lands in the Sac and Fox, Pottawatomie, absentee Shawnee and Iowa reservations in Oklahoma is being rapidly pushed forward, and it is hoped that all will have been put in readiness next week for the president's proclamation. Certain details as to county lines and county seats have not, however, been duly determined upon.

The Kickapoo lands will be included in the proclamation, inasmuch as these Indians have not yet taken their lands in severalty, and the contracts with them must first be ratified by congress. As to the lands west of Oklahoma, it is thought they cannot be opened for settlement for some time yet.

The secretary desires to have everything ready for the president's action at the earliest possible moment, particularly because of the short time now remaining in which the settlers can build their houses and make other preparations for winter before cold weather sets in.

Judge Cooley's Resignation.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Speculation is rife as to who will be appointed chairman of the inter-state commerce commission to succeed Judge Cooley, resigned, and the name of ex-Gov. John H. Gear, of Iowa, is mentioned with great favor in this connection.

The resignation of Judge Cooley, however, may place a new political phase on the constitution of the inter-state commerce commission since there are now two vacancies to fill, the other one being occasioned by the recent death of Commissioner Bragg, of Alabama.
